

Happy New Year!

I've been busy, tidying up this week -

I don't need this 2020 calendar any more, and I have put the 2021 calendar on my desk. I wonder what exciting things will happen in 2021...

The New Year is often a time to think of doing somethings differently or learning a new skill. Some people might want to eat more healthily, do more exercise, or learn something new, it could be learning times tables, or eating more fruit or joining Joe Wicks for a daily workout! Whatever you decide on doing if you can stick with it you can succeed, though if we are honest, it is hard work by ourselves without help from someone.

The story today is about a new beginning, baptism is a new beginning. Many of you will have been baptised in a church, but Jesus was baptised by John in the river. Baptism is when we are sprinkled with water and God adopts us, and welcome us into his family. The water by its self isn't baptism, we can sprinkle any person or pet with water but that doesn't mean they are baptised, we need God to adopts us and welcome us too. This doesn't mean our challenges will be any easier, but we will have God with us and we can talk to him by prayer.
