

Who do you listen to? Or who has authority over us?

Who do you listen to? parents, teachers, doctors, police, scientists?

They are all good answers to that question. They can all tell us what to do and we should listen to their knowledge.

Where do you get information from? Newspapers, the internet, television? Before the internet we got all our information from books.

Most of the time we can work out who and what we should listen to. We listen to doctors as they have studied hard to be qualified. We listen to our minister as he has studied the bible and prayed to make sure he is teaching what God wants him to teach. Who else should we listen to? Jesus, of course!

In our bible story, Jesus began to teach. This was one of the first times for Him to ever preach, and no one knew who He was yet. But even though they didn't know who Jesus was, they knew they should be listening to Him. The moment they heard Him, they could tell there was something special about Him. They even started to tell everyone they knew, so they can could learn from Jesus too.

Unfortunately, we weren't around back then. But that doesn't mean we can't listen to Jesus. There are two ways we can find out the answers from Jesus, praying and reading the Bible.

The Bible is filled with the words Jesus spoke when He was living here on earth. Jesus has SOOOO much to say to you in the Bible, and all we have to do is open it up and read it. We can learn how Jesus wants us to treat others, and how we can show God we love Him. Jesus even taught us how to pray in the Bible, which is our other way of learning from Him. Even if we don't have a Bible in front of us, we can still talk to Jesus in prayer and ask Him to help us. He gave us the Bible so we could find out Jesus from Jesus Himself; so we can learn from Him just like people did back when He was here on earth. You can read it by yourself, with your family, or at church. We just have to open it up and read it.

Why don't you make something with bible verse written on it?
Here are some of my ideas...
